Pan Am Clipper begins service to Elmira Corning Regional Airport

Elmira Corning Regional Airport (ELM) is pleased to welcome Pan Am Clipper Connection in September 2006, providing non-stop service to major metropolitan areas in the northeast, including New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington, D.C.

The Pan Am Clipper service to Elmira will begin in September 2006 with six daily non-stop flights to Bedford, MA, Trenton, NJ and Baltimore/Washington D.C., as of the following start dates:

- September 6, 2006: two departures daily to Bedford, MA (BED) for Boston traffic.
- September 12, 2006: two departures daily to Trenton, NJ (TTN) for NYC and Philadelphia traffic.
- September 19, 2006: two departures daily to Baltimore-Washington International (BWI) for Washington, D.C. Traffic.

According to Ann Clarke, Elmira Corning Regional Airport Manager, until now flying to destinations in the Northeast has been difficult and expensive for regional business and leisure travelers. "Pan Am Clipper flies into smaller, metro-convenient airports, letting us offer non-stop service to metro areas while extending the same advantages to our travelers that they enjoy currently at the Elmira Corning Regional Airport."

At a media conference held at the Airport on August 1, Chemung County Executive Tom Santulli joined the airport officials in announcing Pan Am Clipper's imminent service.

"Securing an airline which provides easy access to New York, Boston and the D.C. area has been one of the county's top priorities," said Mr. Santulli. "We are pleased to be able to provide this new service to both business and pleasure travelers in our area. Pan Am Clipper offers non-stop service to these popular destinations at competitive fares."

The Pan Am Clipper Connection is operated by Boston-Maine Airways Corporation and is based in Portsmouth, NH. They began commuter air service in March 2004 serving three airports in the northeast. By September 2006, Pan Am Clipper will serve ten airports including service to Puerto Rico and Orlando, FL. Additional destinations from Elmira may be added in the future.

To celebrate its expansion to Elmira Corning Regional Airport, Pan Am Clipper Connection is offering introductory sale fares as low as $99 each way. Passengers may take advantage of this limited-time offer when booking online at www.flypanam.com or by calling toll-free at 1-800-FLYPANAM. Sale fares must be purchased by September 30. Everyday fares may vary, but are targeted to be $150 or less each way.

Pan Am Clipper offers its own frequent traveler program, The Clipper Convenience Travel Program. Geared to business travelers, this program offers member benefits not often associated with frequent flyer programs — transferable tickets, unlimited itinerary changes with no service charge, no travel restrictions or black-out dates, and fixed fares regardless of reservation time. Call 1-800-FLYPANAM for more information about this program or visit www.flypanam.com.

Each of the Pan Am Clipper destination airports has multiple alternatives for ground transportation into the city or to a connecting airport. Please see the table on Page 2 of this publication for more detail.

Elmira Corning Regional Airport has served the Southern Tier of Central New York and Northern Tier of Central Pennsylvania since 1945. Through the Pan Am Clipper air service, the Airport can now provide convenient access to major urban areas while maintaining the advantages of a small, regional airport:

- No "big airport" hassles

Pan Am Clipper Connection flies a fleet of Jetstream 3100, 19-seat turbo-prop aircraft on all of its NE routes.

- Fewer delays
- Less congestion
- Shorter check-in times
- Quick and easy access to ground transportation.

"We are absolutely thrilled to be entering into this partnership with Pan Am Clipper to re-introduce an aspect of air service that the Airport has not been able to offer our passengers in several years: non-stop service to major east coast urban areas through smaller portal airports," says Ms. Clarke. "We sincerely hope that passengers will find this service an advantage to using the Elmira Corning Regional Airport."

Airport introduces PASSplus passenger rewards program

In September, Elmira Corning Regional Airport will launch ELM PASSplus, a passenger rewards program designed to thank passengers who use the Airport for their air travel. As a member of the ELM PASSplus program, passengers will receive instant discounts on food, snacks and drinks at the on-site restaurant, DC-2. The ELM PASSplus program is completely FREE, and is offered to all Elmira Corning Regional Airport customers.

“With so many travel choices available, we want regional travelers to know we appreciate their business,” says Ann Clarke, Airport Manager. “The new PASSplus program reinforces our thanks for the opportunity to be part of their journey.”

Runway extension nears completion, other improvements underway

A 600-foot extension of the primary runway at the Elmira Corning Regional Airport is scheduled to be completed in September 2006, bringing the total runway length to 7,600 feet.

“Completion of this work will allow us to better support our existing air service providers to current destinations,” says Ann Clarke, Airport Manager. “Smaller planes actually require more runway space than many larger planes. This extension supports our airlines with full passenger loads for all their destinations from our Airport.”

In addition, a new Master Plan for the Airport is currently being finalized. The new Plan will recommend further extending the runway to 8,000 feet. This will enable the staging required for longer flights to more distant destinations such as Charlotte and Memphis, and will better serve leisure aircraft and cargo carriers. The FAA requires airports to file a current Master Plan in order to qualify for federal funding.

In August, the Airport will solicit contractor bids for improvements to the car rental lot, with completion expected by year-end 2006. Improvements will include a new rental car ready lot, slightly further from the main terminal in order to meet Transportation Security Administration (TSA) security standards. When the project is complete, rental car pick-ups will be as convenient as ever. Returns will bypass airport traffic completely, with direct, dedicated access from Sing Sing Road and improved signage.

Funding is being finalized and designs are underway for improvements to the Airport access road and parking lots. The project will include resurfacing the existing lots, along with new signage to make arrivals, departures and drop-offs by car easier and faster than ever. “As part of the improvements, our parking vendor, Republic Parking, is investigating a non-staffed parking system that will move our parking customers in and out of the lot more quickly,” says Ms. Clarke.

Other Airport improvements now in the design stages include new center line runway lights to reduce the impact of fog on airport operations. Construction is expected to begin on that project during the 2008 construction season.

DC-2 airport restaurant offers convenience, art and amenities

Recent visitors to the Elmira Corning Regional Airport will have noticed a new, light-filled restaurant space complete with intriguing art, gleaming sheet metal appointments and plenty of seating for dining and working.

DC-2 at the Elmira Corning Regional Airport opened for business in December 2005. The restaurant is operated by long-time Market Street restaurateur, Curt DeClemente, who has brought many of the popular offerings of his Corning establishment to the airport venue. Open daily from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., the restaurant features a Friday fish fry and Sunday brunch. Catering service is available for special events at the Airport or off-site. In addition, the facility is equipped for business meetings and gatherings, with wireless Internet service provided by Databranch, a DataCounter for plug-in Internet access and a state-of-the-art meeting room.

“DC-2 provides a convenient opportunity for travelers to dine in or take out,” says Airport Manager Ann Clarke. “We are pleased to be able to offer a full range of amenities to our visitors and flight passengers, from a simple cup of coffee to a full course meal with complete bar service.”

The recent redesign of the restaurant space was conceived and managed by Johnson-Schmidt Architectural Associates of Corning, and features artwork and flight-related objects on loan from the three regional aviation institutions. Among the donated items now featured in the new restaurant space are:

Antique wing frame on loan from the Curtis Museum.

Aircraft engine and propeller on loan from Wings of Eagles.

- A half-scale model of a glider on loan from the National Soaring Museum, which is the centerpiece of the café seating area.

- An antique wing frame loaned by the Curtis Museum, displayed in a large case that separates the cafe seating from the Passenger Lounge space.

- A plane engine and propeller on loan from Wings of Eagles, which stands at the entrance of DC-2.

- Historic images borrowed from the National Soaring Museum are mounted above the bar, telling a story about the Schweizer family.

The Passenger Lounge features photos on loan from the National Soaring Museum.

The stainless steel counters and bar were designed to resemble airplane wings and blue floor lights are lined up to echo a landing strip. In addition, a bench was designed with wing-shaped dividers and table tops that can be combined to make a larger oval-shaped table. “The workmanship by Cameron Manufacturing, fabricator of the metal counters, was exceptional,” says David Anderson, Project Manager for Johnson-Schmidt. “In addition, by using Owner's Forces (Chemung County Buildings and Grounds), Chemung County realized an estimated savings of 35% on the project. The expertise that exists on their team is extremely impressive, and we enjoyed working with the County to complete a well executed team project.”

According to Mr. DeClemente, business in the new restaurant is picking up as news about the great food and stylish atmosphere spreads. “We are providing more and more take-out service to businesses near the Airport, and we're beginning to see more foot traffic and repeat customers,” he says. The restaurant offers free airport parking with a purchase of $5 or more, and a special coupon for a half-price entrée is included below.
